FOOTBALL RULES MADE AT LAST

Ten Yards in Three Downs and Forward Passes Greatest Changes in Game.

MORE POWER TO OFFICIALS

COMMITTEE BELIEVES IT HAS ABOLISHED BAD FEATURES.

New York, April 1.—The American intercollegiate football rules committee, a consolidation of the old football rules committee and the representatives of colleges who attended the recent conference on football reform held in this city, finally adopted today the new playing rules for 1906.

The committee has attempted to "open" the game wherever possible and to eliminate unnecessary roughness and brutality. At the same time the committee has striven to retain some semblance of the game as it has been played in this country during the past several years.

Ten Yards in Three Downs.

One of the principal changes doubles the distance to be gained on three downs, ten yards now being required of the team on the offense instead of five. Therefore, forward passes are to be allowed, and whenever a forward pass crosses the goal line it shall count as a touchback. Reforms in methods of tackling, holding and interference have been provided, and the penalties for these have been severely stiffened. Six men only are to be on the line of scrimmage. A central board of control is to pass upon the competency of all game officials. More power is given to the game officials and it is provided that there shall be a referee, two umpires and a linesman in all games of first importance. The committee has endeavored to cover all points of the game over which complaints have arisen.

Where Camp Butts In.

During the next two weeks, Walter Camp, editor, and William T. Reid, Jr., of Harvard, secretary, will codify and arrange the new code. A meeting of the committee will be held Saturday, April 14, at which the codification will be presented. The committee will then make such alterations as are necessary. (1) In wording, clarification, but not in sense. (2) To remove inconsistencies, and (3) such other changes as may meet with unanimous approval of those in attendance. The present code as issued was announced in toto.

Minor Points Settled.

There were a number of minor points settled today. The question of retaining the put-out after a touchdown for a try at goal was decided favorably. It was acted on adversely the goal posts would have been widened. The question of allowing the punter-out to make a fake kick to draw his opponents off-side before actually kicking was settled affirmatively. Other similar questions were decided. On the new rule requiring men to be on the line of scrimmage this addition was made.

"When a man is supposed to be on the line of scrimmage he shall be on the line of scrimmage in the hands of the referee. The way will be specifically prescribed."

The new rule defining holding, a definition is to be prepared for the referee. "The arms close to the body," indicating permissible blocking.

GIRLS START LEAGUE GAMES

Maeser and Parker Teams
Play Tie Game and Postpone Finish.

(Special to The Herald.)

Provo, April 1.—The girls' games in basketball began Thursday and two very snappy contests were held, one at the Franklin and the other at the Parker grounds. At the former place the Franklin and Timpanogos played two lively fifteen-minute halves, ending in a score of 9 to 4 in favor of the Franklin girls. At the Parker field the school and the Maesers had a strenuous game in which neither team could win. The score at call of time stood 3 to 3, and as the young ladies were somewhat exhausted it was decided not to continue the game. Next Thursday the Franklin meet the Parker and the Maeser the Timpanogos.

The boys' games were much more exciting than they were last week. The little Motors from the Maeser played a wonderfully brisk game against the Parker five and did well to keep the large fellows from scoring more than 14 to their points. The Timpanogos Tigers scored a victory over the Franklin Farmers in a hard fought game at the Timpanogos ground, and demonstrated they are among the best basketball teams in the city when on their own grounds. Next Friday's games are: Parker vs. Franklin at Franklin, and Maeser vs. Timpanogos at Timpanogos.

LAWSON GOES TO CANYONS

Iver Will Take Rest Before Beginning Training for Season's Racing.

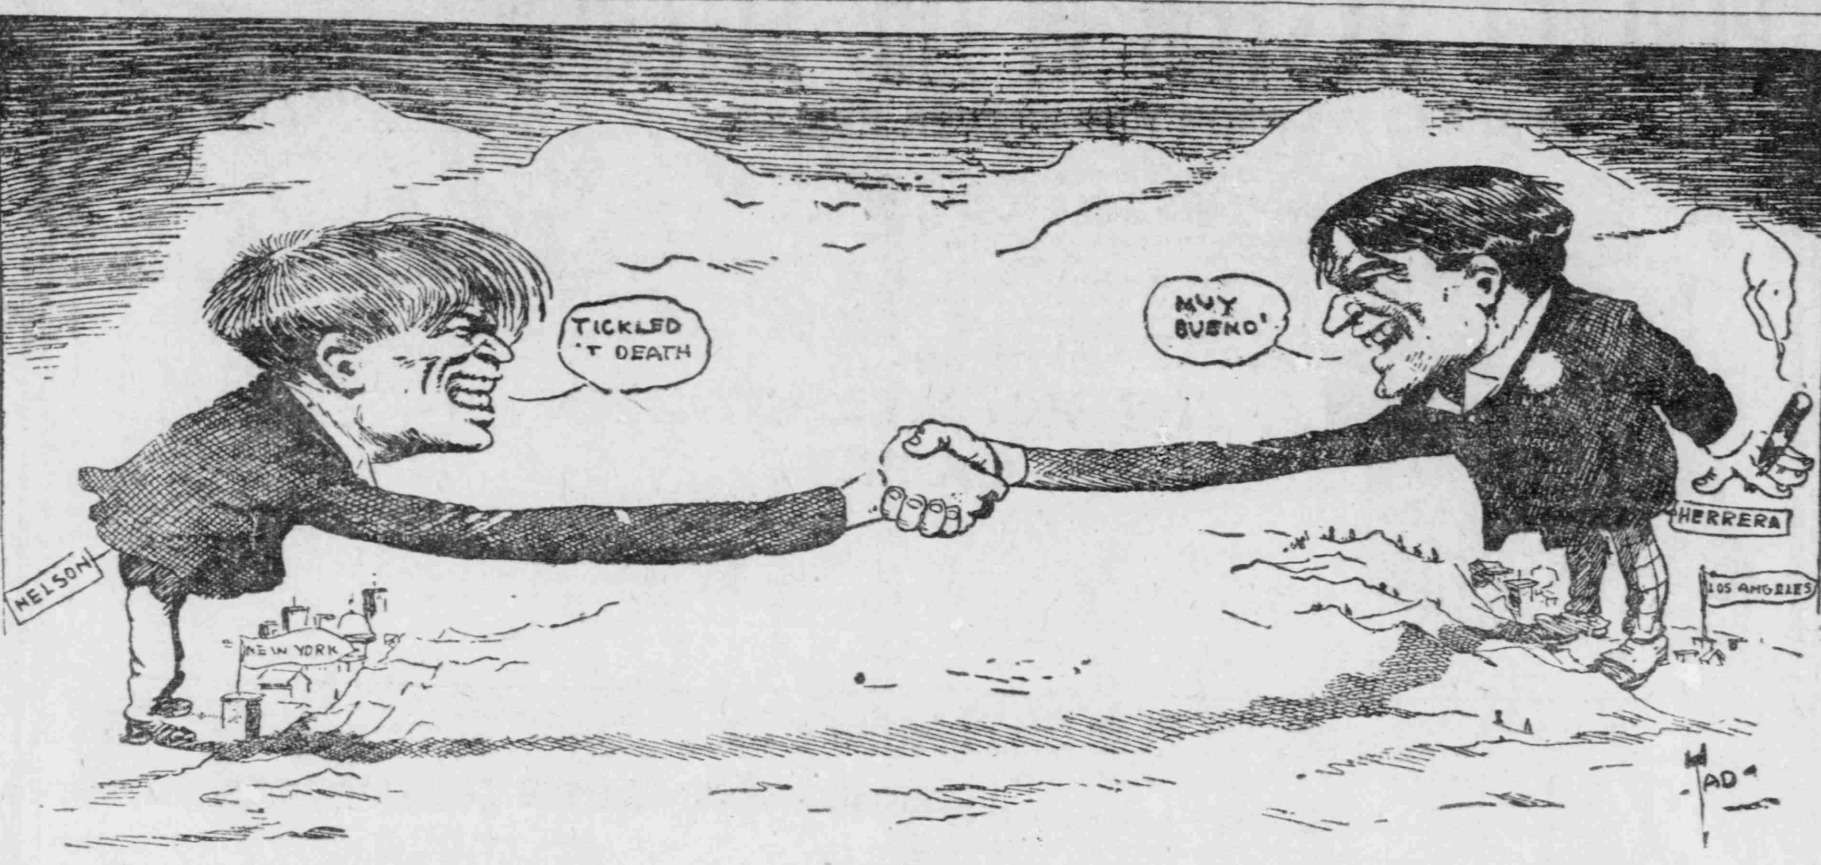

Iver Lawson, Salt Lake's world's champion bicycle rider, does not intend to take any chances on being out of condition for racing this summer. Heretofore Lawson has gone into the season's training with but little preliminary training and as a result found it hard work to up to the mark. This was especially true last year.

This season, however, Lawson is going after the game right and will leave within a day or so for Ordan canyon. It is his intention to take at least two weeks' rest and do nothing but eat and grow strong. At the end of that time he will return to Salt Lake to begin active work for the opening of the season at the saucer track. He expects to be at his best when the first race comes off by this system of training, and will then try to keep himself in shape for the full racing season.

BREAK TARGETS IN SNOWSTORM

In Spite of Weather Club Members

Shoot Out String of Blue Rocks.

Shooting blue rocks in a snowstorm is an experience several members of the Salt Lake Gun club seemed to enjoy yesterday. In spite of the heavy downfall of the beautiful, some of the most enthusiastic members shot out full scores of 100 and then hammered away at a few tens for practice. The scores were weak, being done in the last month, but some of the shooters remarked: "We had to be quick work to locate the birds moving snow."

Callison got away with high score, breaking seventy-nine out of a possible hundred. This is probably one of the best scores he has made in several months. The detailed scores:

Coming Champion Who Quit.

Sammy McClintock, manager of Dick Hyland, is well stocked with stories of the ring, and now and then gets off a good one. Yesterday while talking to a number of fight fans Sammy told of a new wonder some one discovered in California, who was touted to eventually win the heavy-weight championship. It was about the time Bob Armstrong was coming out and trimming all the colored brethren on the coast. The fight promoters were searching the colored districts of San Francisco for a big husky black when a fellow named Sam Pruitt, weighing about 250 pounds, was located. When asked if he could box, Pruitt answered that he had once gone twenty rounds to a draw with Peter Jackson. This settled it. He was at once staked out as the coming champion and his press agent got busy. In a short time he was matched to fight Bob Armstrong, and the night of the contest McClintock was engaged to go in his corner, while Greggains was selected as referee. In the second round Armstrong sent on a hard one to Pruitt, who promptly clinched and whispered to Greggains: "Now go easy, Bob; we have all night to fight and there is no use of rushing matters."

When Pruitt came to his corner he was a sad looking "coon." McClintock thought to cheer him up and said:

"Go after him, Sam; he is about ready to quit." Pruitt replied: "You think so?"

Well, some day has got to quit pretty soon, because I can't fight much longer."

In the next round Armstrong went after Sam hard, and in a few seconds the big dub found a soft place and laid down.

Greggains began to toll off the seconds, and between each count asked Pruitt to get up, seeing he was not hurt. When nine had been reached, Greggains leaned over and said: "Get up, Sam, or I will have to count ten and you will be out."

The "coon" looked up in Greggains' face and replied: "I don't care if you count a million, I am going to stay right here until you get through."

And he did. This was the end of Pruitt, who went back to where he came from, never to enter the ring again.

The "coon" looked up in Greggains' face and replied: "I don't care if you count a million, I am going to stay right here until you get through."

And he did. This was the end of Pruitt, who went back to where he came from, never to enter the ring again.
